ELLISON MADE COMMISSIONER

MARYVILLE ATTORNEY ELECTED BY SUPREME COURT.

HAS SIMILAR DUTIES

Four-Year Office Practically the Same as Judge.—Assumes Post April 12.

Jefferson City, April 4.—George R. Ellison of Maryville, a Democrat, and Berryman Henwood of Hannibal, a Republican, were elected today by the Missouri Supreme Court to be the two new commissioners of the Supreme Court authorized by the Legislature.

The Legislature extended the life of the Supreme Court Commission for four years from April 12, 1927, and increased the number of commissioners from four to six.

The appointment of George Robb Ellison as a commissioner of the Missouri Supreme Court has been expected here for several days. Mr. Ellison was not in Maryville today, but it was said at his office that he would make arrangements at once to assume his duties as commissioner on April 12.

His acceptance of the commissioner's post will make it necessary for Mr. Ellison to sever his connection with the firm of Shinabarger, Blagg and Ellison, with which he has been associated here for a number of years.

Office Recently Created.

The office to which Mr. Ellison is appointed is one of two created by the Legislature at its present session. For the last four years only four commissioners have served at the supreme court. The crowded docket and rush of cases made two additional commissioners necessary and a bill providing for them was passed by both houses and approved by the governor.

The commissioners are appointed for four-year terms beginning April 12, 1927, at salaries of $7,500 yearly, the same as provided for supreme judges. Not more than three of the commissioners can be members of the same political party.

From Family of Jurists.

The appointment of Mr. Ellison brings to the Supreme Court a man of keen legal mind and admirable judicial temperament. The new commissioner, active in the practice of his profession in Maryville and Northwest Missouri for the last twenty years, and a member of the firm of Shinabargar Blagg & Ellison, comes from a family of distinguished jurists. Beginning before the Civil War, every male member of the Ellison family has been a lawyer, and several of them have served on the bench.

Mr. Ellison's grandfather, James Ellison, sr., a resident of Lewis county, was judge of the old Fourth Circuit in Northeast Missouri. He also was a member of the state senate and a curator of the University of Missouri.

Judge William C. Ellison of this city, father of the appointee, was circuit judge here for fourteen years, while Andrew Ellison, an uncle, resided at Kirksville and was circuit judge in the twenty-seventh circuit for eighteen years. Another uncle, Judge James Ellison, was judge of the Kansas City Court of Appeals from the time of its establishment until 1920—about thirty-six years. Still another uncle, although a crippie, was judge of the probate court of Lewis county.

Recounting this family record, a writer in the October issue of the Missouri Historical Review said: "I think it is safe to say no such judicial record can be found in any other family in Missouri."

Candidate for Court in 1926.

Mr. Ellison was a candidate in 1926 for the Democratic nomination but withdrew despite widespread assurances of support. He has had a prominent place in Democratic party councils for a dozen years and has served for six years on the state committee. He has never before held any public office, however.

The new commissioner was graduated from Harvard University and also attended the School of Law of the University of Missouri.

Commissioners of the Supreme Court possess the same qualifications as the Supreme Court judges themselves and subscribe to a like oath. In other words, a commissioner is practically the

L. L. ST. CLAIR ASKS RELEASE

HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL GETS OFFER FROM HARDIN COLLEGE.

BEFORE SCHOOL BOARD

Action on Request to Be Taken Wednesday Night.—Would Leave This Week to Be Field Agent.

L. L. St. Clair, principal of the Maryville High School, has been offered a position with Hardin College, a girls' school at Mexico, Mo., he said today, and he has asked for release from his contract for the remainder of the present school year here.

The request will come up before the school board on Wednesday night, members of the board said today.

In case the school board takes favorable action Mr. St. Clair will leave the last of the week for Mexico, where he will become field representative for Hardin until September.

What duties he would have at the college after that date have not definitely been decided, Mr. St. Clair said, but he will remain with the institution in some capacity.

Mr. St. Clair is finishing his fifth year as principal of the Maryville High School. He was graduated from the University of Missouri at Columbia in 1919 with a degree of B. S., and was awarded his Master's degree in Education in 1924.

Mr. St. Clair taught at Springfield, 1917-20, and two years at Webb City, 1920-22, before he came to Maryville.

In case he should accept the position with Hardin College his family would not move to Mexico until the school term here is closed, the middle of May.

Mr. St. Clair has taken active part in local organizations and at present time holds the office of high priest of Owens Chapter 96, Royal Arch Masons.

Mr. St. Clair was chairman of the local chautauqua association for this summer, superintendent of the Baptist Sunday School and active in church work.

This year at the High School he taught sociology, civics and occupations. He organized the Claytonian literary society at the high school in 1923, sponsored the Hi-Y Club for three years and the Maryvillian, the high school annual for this year.

WARM SUNDAY BRINGS AUTOS, SPRING GARB

Yesterday Probably the Warmest April 3, but Forecast for Tomorrow Is "Cooler."

With a high temperature of 68 yesterday, new spring styles in clothes and automobiles were on parade. It was the first agreeable Sunday this sphing.

P. Connor at Kansas City recorded the temperature at 75, the warmest April 3 in forty-nine years.

It was perhaps the warmest April 3 recorded here, though not the highest temperature for the month, according to J. R. Brink's figures for the last thirty-five years. Last year the thermometer ran up to 87 degrees on April 30, and up to 96 degrees on April 28, 1915.

The warm, sunny Sunday yesterday, however, was a false harbinger of spring, as the forecast is for cooler weather tomorrow.

NEW PASTOR BEGINS WORK

NEARLY WEEK ON WAY

Minister's First Sermon at First Methodist Church Is On "Knowing Christ."

A rising tribute, pledging support of a united congregation, opened the ministry yesterday morning of the Rev. W. S. Woodhull, new pastor of the First Methodist Church.

The silent greeting, given spontaneously, came as the new pastor prepared to begin his first sermon. It affected him so visibly that he was compelled to halt his opening remarks and dab at wet eyes with his handkerchief.

On his way to Maryville by motor since last Tuesday, the new minister announced he had emerged from "great tribulation," referring to muddy roads and a detour near Rosendale. He arrived in Maryville only a few minutes before the time for opening of the morning service.

Coming here after having held several city pastorates, the Reverend Mr. Woodhull expressed pleasure at being assigned to a rural community.

"I'll venture there isn't a man here who couldn't plant and attend to an acre of potatoes, or a woman who couldn't make a good pumpkin pie," he said.

"The Lord loves common folks," he added.

Born in Michigan.

Although the new pastor comes here from Fort Worth, Texas, he is not of southern birth, he said today. He was born in Vernon, Mich., and entered the ministry under the Michigan Methodist conference. From there he went to Idaho, where he held pastorates in Pocatello and Twin Falls.

Going east, Mr. Woodhull was engaged in special work in the foreign section of Cleveland. Then he was transferred to Philadelphia, where he did similar work in the Italian section, holding two churches. He went to Oklahoma City, Okla., in 1920, where he

2 ELECTIONS FOR ONE DAY

MARYVILLE TO CAST CITY AND SCHOOL BALLOTS TOMORROW.

POLLING PLACES SAME

Tomorrow will find Maryville voters going to the polls to elect a mayor, two councilmen, three members of the city board of education and a superintendent of county schools.

The voters also will pass upon the city school levy of 60 cents in addition to the 40 cents authorized by law, and upon a proposal to change the boundaries of the district so as to exclude 400 acres of land owned by Sherman Pierpoint and Henry Wells. Both farms are on the state road just east of Maryville.

The city polls will open at 6 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m., Mayor W. O. Garrett said this morning. George P. Wright, clerk of the school board, said that the law provides that the polls for the school election be opened at 7 o'clock and close at 6 p. m.

The voting places for both elections will be the same as at the city primary:

First ward, fire station; second ward, Battery C Armory; third ward, Arnold-Strong Motor Company, West Second street; and fourth ward, James Smith plumbing shop, East Third street.

Somerville Unopposed.

Leslie G. Somerville, who has been county superintendent of school for the last seven years, is the only one to announce for this position.

Directors of all school boards throughout the county are to be elected tomorrow in the various town and rural school districts.

There will be only one candidate for mayor, as Mayor Garrett was unopposed at the primary. Four candidates have been certified to the city election for the two council seats, the present members, D. E. Hotchkin and Augustus Romasser, and A. N. ("Doll") Reece and Ernest C. Moore.

The candidates nominated for the three vacancies on the school board, whose names will be on the ballots, are Dr. Jesse Miller for the one-year term and Mrs. C. P. Fryer and Mrs. Hugh Strong for the two three-year terms.

John H. Sewell has been selected by a number of citizens and business men as a candidate for school director for the one year term to oppose Dr. Miller.

In an advertisement in today's Democrat-Forum, S. A. Pierpoint and S. H. Wells, explained their action for taking the 400 acres of land out of the Maryville school district and appealing for support, say the land in that portion of their farms lying in the overflow section of the 102 river and does not include any portion of their farms on which improvements are located. It will mean a loss of between $300 and $400 a year to the school district, it is stated.

When voting the city ticket, voters have been cautioned to vote for only two of the four candidates for councilmen. Election judges at the primary said that several votes had to be discarded for the reason that more than two candidates were voted for on the same ballot.

Vote For Mayor, Anyway.

The voters are advised to place a cross in the square before the name of Mr. Garrett, even though he is the only candidate. The reason for this, it was explained, is that in event a petition for a bond issue should be drawn up, signatures of 25 per cent of the voters cast for mayor at the last city election would be necessary. For this reason a representative vote should be made for mayor, regardless of the fact that there is only one candidate.

Lowden Is Willing to Be Candidate

Former Illinois Governor in Presidential Race "If Agricultural States Want Him."

Des Moines, April 4.—Iowa legislators who visited former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois in Chicago yesterday announced today that Lowden had agreed to be a candidate for the 1928 Republican presidential nomination, "if the agricultural states want him to be."

The committee was one which was formed shortly after President Coolidge vetoed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill. The committee at that time announced itself in favor of "Lowden for President."

JOHN SEWELL A CANDIDATE

RUNS AGAINST MILLER

A number of citizens and business men at a meeting held at the court house at 1 o'clock this afternoon selected John H. Sewell as a candidate for school director for the one year term to oppose Dr. Jesse Miller, who was named as a candidate in the school caucus Friday. Mr. Sewell has consented to accept the nomination and his name will be printed on the Citizens school ticket. The two women who were named Friday night are also on the Citizens school ticket, there being no opposition to them.

C. F. McCaffrey, chairman of the meeting today, said:

"A number of good citizens and business men are dissatisfied with the candidate for school director, for the one year term, Dr. Jesse Miller, and at a meeting held this afternoon it was decided to name Mr. Sewell as a candidate to oppose him.

"The sole and only reason for this dissatisfaction is Dr. Miller's presidency of the board of regents of the State Teachers College. We feel his first love and interest, the College, might work to the detriment of the public schools, and would require all of his time. The jurisdiction of the college extends to the nineteen counties in the northwest part of the state. The public schools here are maintained by taxes paid for in this school district.

"We don't think a school director can divide his time between the College and public schools with success.

"There is no opposition to the women candidates named, Mrs. C. P. Fryer and Mrs. Hugh Strong. They were endorsed at this meeting and their names will be printed on the Citizens' ticket."

Mr. Sewell has been a business man of Maryville for a number of years. He has always been active in civic and school affairs here.

was pastor of the Second Street Methodist Church. He also held a pastorate at Pawhuska, Okla., then was assigned to the Fort Worth church from which he came here.

Mrs. Woodhull and their one daughter, Elizabeth, 16, remained for a few days in Kansas City and will come on to Maryville the last of the week after the family's household goods have arrived. Mr. Woodhull was accompanied by his father, G. S. Woodhull, who is 91 years old, and who greatly enjoyed the motor trip from Fort Worth. Mr. and Mrs. Woodhull also have a son, G. W. Woodhull, who recently was graduated from Iowa State Agricultural College at Ames and now is representing the Armour Fertilizer Co., in Northeastern, Ia.

"You may say that I am delighted with Maryville," the new minister said, "—with the prosperous appearance of the city and the fine churches of various denominations. It is a beautiful place."

"Know Nothing Save Christ."

The Reverend Mr. Woodhull occupied the rostrum of the church yesterday morning with the Rev. Lane Douglas and E. M. Houchens. The pastor was introduced by Mr. Houchens.

Mr. Woodhull spoke at the morning service from the text, "I am determined to know nothing among you, save Jesus Christ."

"The trouble with some of us," he declared, "is that we are not determined enough. We take the easy route." He gave several illustrations.

"It is possible," he continued, "to know Christ in very narrow way, and to exclude Him from the great sweep of life going on around us. It is possible to know Him in this way until the world comes to know a Christian as being a very narrow minded man. On the other hand, it is possible to know Him too broadly.

"But I would ask a man only one thing: 'Do you love Jesus Christ?' And if he says 'Yes,' I would say with John Wesley, 'I am sick of opinions. Give me your hand.'

"Christ is a partner with the storekeeper, and not a junior partner either, but the senior partner. We must find Christ in all industrial relations and in international affairs.

"Wherever there is a war, the wounds in the hands of Christ and in the brow of Christ and in the heart of Christ are reopened. The world is crucifying Christ again."

Christ As Humorist.

The Reverend Mr. Woodhull gave his conception of Christ as a "humorous man, one who would 'fit in' at a picnic of young people, one who would not hold them down to keep them from being harmful, but who would bring them up and make them wholesome and helpful."

"But it is not whether you know Christ narrowly or broadly," he concluded, "but whether you know him at all. If a narrow man learns to know Christ, Christ is going to broaden him; and if a man knows Him too broadly, Christ is going to narrow him down and make him useful."

The Reverend Mr. Woodhull's text last night was: "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life."

Spiritual Freedom Man's Greatest Need

"The great need of man in every age is the need of spiritual emancipation. For this reason Jesus came into the world," the Rev. W. N. Dewar told his congregation at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning.

"To set man free was the great ideal, the ennobling purpose, the divine ambition of His life."

"A host of people live out the span of their lives without ever knowing that they are living it in bondage. The plane of live on which they have been living has never carried them high enough. They are like people dwelling in a secluded valley surrounded by mountains which have shut out the larger view of the greater world without. An adventurous soul now and then among them dares to climb the mountain, driven by a curiosity to see what is on the other side. With the climb comes the sense of soul expansion, and when the view of the great world beyond the range bursts on his soul he has a sense of emancipation. He never goes back to the valley again. Or if he does he can never be content. He will feel the pull of the greater world beyond the range of little hills that shuts him into an existence that is too narrow for the demands of his soul. If he stays he will become weary. There is not enough in that valley to meet the cravings of his liberated spirit.

"Thus there are thousands who are living in the little valley of sin, who never fully realize that they are in a state of bondage. They have never realized it as they ought, because they have never felt the touch of the emancipating spirit of Jesus. They have climbed no height whereby they could catch the view of that larger life into which he is ready to lead them—that life which is so radiant with the glow of spiritual liberty.

"Sin is never truly sin until it is seen by him, who knows something of that life from which sin has been cast out.

"It is a sad thing, the saddest in all human life, when sin becomes the master of a man's spiritual life. And there is not a life in which sin is not in some degree, or in some form or other, at certain times the master of the house. It is man's deadly foe. We need to grapply with it to be free. It will fetter us with the bondage of spiritual death if we are not emancipated from it.

"It was Paul's boast that he was the bond slave of Jesus Christ. But it was willing slavery. Paul deliberately chose slavery with Christ in preference to the world. That latter he knew to be cramping bondage, the former he knew to be boundless freedom, soul liberty, spiritual emancipation."

MAY EXAMINE FORD'S HURTS

SAPIRO COUNSEL TO DEMAND THAT HE TESTIFY.

BILLIONAIRE WILLING

Detroit, April 4.—A court examination to determine the physical condition of Henry Ford will be demanded by William Henry Gallagher, counsel for Aaron Sapiro in the Ford-Sapiro libel suit, if the injured billionaire does not answer his name when he is called as a witness later this week, Gallagher told the United Press today.

As soon as Ford counsel learned of Gallagher's intention to determine by an examination the defendant's physical condition C. B. Longley, chief of local Ford attorneys, told the United Press that the billionaire would submit to such an examination if he should be unable to appear.

Longley was, however, "not sure" that Ford would be unable to testify when his name is called, presumably later this week. He indicated the defendant was anxious to appear, even if in splints, to quiet unsubstantiated rumors that he was seeking to avoid appearance.

To the Voters of the Maryville School District:

At the election tomorrow you will find on your ballot a proposition to exclude from the district certain tracts of land along the east side of the district, this land to be taken into the Council Corner district at the same time. We, the undersigned, wish to explain to the voters the reason for this action and to appeal for support because we believe it is fair that the change should be made.

The land to be voted out of the Maryville district is that portion of our farms lying in the overflow section of the One Hundred and Two river and does not include any portion of our farms on which any improvements are located. If the petition is granted the east boundary line of the Maryville district south of the State Road will be what is known as the Arkoe bottom road. About 400 acres are included in the district to be voted out. It will mean a loss of between $300 and $400 a year to the Maryville district.

RAID REVEALS A FARM STILL

COUNTY OFFICERS VISIT EDW. MOREHOUSE NEAR PICKERING.

OWNER NOT AT HOME

County officers today were holding a portion of corn mash and a confiscated still as evidence against Edward Morehouse, five miles northwest of Pickering.

Yesterday Prosecuting Attorney George Pat Wright, Sheriff L. B. Campbell and Deputy Sheriffs Harve England and John Rasco, raided the Morehouse farm home and found a half barrel of soured mash in an upstairs room, barred by a locked door.

The barrel was covered with several boxes and sugar sacks. A complete still also was found.

The officers searched a cave outside the house and found a 10-gallon jar, partially filled with clean corn mash.

Whether Morehouse was aware he would have a visit yesterday is unknown, but he was not at home at the time of the raid.

He was arrested this morning by Deputy Sheriffs John Rasco and Frank Burchett on a charge of possessing a still and was released on $500 bond to guarantee his appearance at the April term of court.

It was indicated that other charges would be filed against him.

W. A. Blagg Speaks to H. S. Students

"Don't Cut Corners," Says Maryville Attorney, Urging Full Educational Equipment.

"Don't Cut-the-corners in any line of life endeavor," was the advice this morning of W. A. Blagg, Maryville attorney, who spoke to the student body of the Maryville High School at a Hi-Y assembly program. The twenty-five minute address was a composite of humor, philosophy and sound logic.

Mr. Blagg said men, women and children who cut the corner over beautiful lawns, to the ruination of civic enterprise, are similar to those who cut corners in life's professions for quicker success. "They seek the easiest and quickest way for the most money by cutting short their educational equipment," he said.

The attorney cited an incident in his own life, "when horse racing was in flower," how he trained a horse and sent it to Chicago for a great race, "and when the race ended I wasn't there," he said. Money was lost through what he termed as "folly for a short-cut to easy money." He declared that many young people were letting education and opportunity drop in view of the short-cuts of life.

"Education equips you for the tasks of the world and unless you accept that equipment you cannot meet the competition the world has made for you," he warned his student audience.

A large Bible was presented to the student body, the gift of the Hi-Y Club. This will be placed in the auditorium for the use of the students. Walter Allen, president of the club, presented it to Ora Petty, president of the student association. The scripture of presentation was read from Psalm 100, the thought being, "His (God's) truth endureth to all generations."

Erman Barrett presided at the program and read the scripture on the subject of "Friendship". Prayer was given by Wilson Dowden. A talk, "Choosing Friends" was the subject of a talk by Halbert Catterson.

Northeast High Wins Consolation Flight

Chicago, April 4. — Morton High School of Cicero, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, today stands as champion of the National High School basketball tournament which ended Saturday night, by defeating Batesville, Ark., 18 to 16. Northeast High School of Kansas City, Missouri's entry in the tourney, won the consolation flight, defeating Athens, Texas, 24 to 23.

Fay Casteel, F. H. Burns, L. L. Slagle, Art Spear, Walker Ogiesby, and Perry Onstott, all of Ranvenwood, were Maryville visitors today.

Pleas Griffey went to St. Joseph this morning to see Mrs. Griffey who recently underwent an operation for gallstones at the Missouri Methodist Hospital.

Duty and Beauty

They're a duty-bound bunch, those immigration officials. The far-famed pulchritude of Madamoiselle Jacqueline Schally, "most beautiful woman in France," made no impression on their hearts at all when she arrived at New York to compete in at Atlantic City and other beauty contests and she was for a time detained at Ellis Island. Jacqueline, you see, is only 18—a minor in the law's eyes, and isn't supposed to be at large in this country without proper guardianship.

Charles L. Wells, of Maryville, was elected president of the Maryville Farmers Exchange, at a meeting of the executive board following the annual meeting of the Exchange Saturday afternoon. He succeeds Albert B. Dowden.

John Deardorff was re-elected as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Wells will call a meeting of the executive board some time this week for the purpose of arranging a contract for a manager of the exchange. J. J. Russell is the present manager.

The proposition brought up at the annual meeting to change the by-law of the organization so that a member of any farmers' organization may participate in the patronage dividend was turned over to the executive board, to be decided later.

Mr. Wells said this morning the meeting will be held some evening this week, but he was uncertain what day.

He said the executive board would like to get the co-operation of all members of the Exchange to boost the sales of the organization.

Mr. Wells said it was not generally known that the Exchange was buying on the open market and selling its produce wherever the highest prices could be obtained.

BORDER READY FOR THE RUSH

CANADA BOOMS AS DATE NEARS FOR PLENTIFUL LIQUOR.

WILL BE NO SALOONS

But Hotels And Even Tents Will Be Provided For Thirsty Americans. —No Limit On Alcohol.

Windsor, Ontario, April 4.—Canada's border cities are undergoing elaborate alterations in anticipation of the near day when three million some old parched Americans will swarm across the St. Clair river to legally quench a nine year thirst.

Early in May the government will throw open its liquor stores and from that time on Windsor—only eight minutes by ferry from the United States—will become the funnel for Canada's great liquor rush.

There will be beers, ales, imported wines and hard spirits aplenty—all sold at cost under government supervision.

But there will be no saloons.

The Canadian parliament carefully inserted in its bill restoring liquor to the provinces the provision that there must be no public drinking. But the loop-holes are numerous.

Like California's gold rush, the western stampede for oil and Florida's real estate boom, Windsor's property values have doubled almost over night. American syndicates, sensing the fortunes to be made from the influx, have beseiged property owners with extravagant offers.

Combined Population Of 125,000.

The border cities consist of Windsor, Ford, Walkerville, La Salle, Sandwich, Ojibway and Riversile and have a combined population of 125,000. A great part of these commute daily to Detroit where they are employed. A portion of their salaries are spent there. Now with the prospect of a flood of gold sweeping across the river everyone is preparing to exploit the situation.

Hotels to provide for "tourists" make up the greater part of construction activity.

Men are working night and day on a 10 story hotel in the heart of Windsor. The Prince Edward hotel, favorite stopping place of the city, will begin work on a large addition soon.

American capitalists have purchased an old and valuable estate in the center of the city, where it is reported, they will construct a large apartment building.

Dwelling are being built by the scores in all of the border cities and construction figures for all times have been smashed. Building permits totaling nearly $3,000,000 have been issued in Windsor during the past three months, a figure nearly twice the 1926 total for the corresponding period.

Breweries Work Night and Day.

Several breweries in Walkerville, Riverside and Windsor are working night and day to build up a stock for release to the invading throng. They are also building large additions to their plants.

Indicative of the feverish real estate transactions is the effort of an American to purchase a small piece of land a mile beyond the city limits of Windsor for $1,200. Last summer the parcel sold for $700 and the owner has announced he will not sell for less than $2,000 now.

A canning plant here has been sold for $80,000 to a syndicate to American business men who will refit it into a brewery with equipment brought from a discarded American plant.

Many American families from the middlewest, the major portion of them from Detroit, are moving across the border to take up permanent residence. Here they may have beer and whiskey delivered to their homes. It is expected thousands of new families will move into Windsor during the next year.

Premier Howard Ferguson has estimated 3,500,000 Americans will visit the province of Ontario this year and that the greater part of them will enter via Windsor.

The border cities, although taking advantage of their greatest real estate boom, are not advertising the advent of legal liquor. Preparations for its sale are being made quietly.

New Liquor Stronger.

They remember the experience of May 21, 1925, when the famous "four-point" four" beer attracted thousands of Windsor and neighboring towns.

Americans, enthusiastically grasping the opportunity to obtain what they believed would be real old-time beer with a "kick," bore down on the border cities and drank copious amounts only to find it a temperance beverage. Canadian authorities were blamed.

One hotel sold over 13,000 bottles during the first day of the influx and nearly 100 kegs. In another hotel barroom 30,000 gallons were consumed. Only one man was arrested for being drunk that day.

Now the famous "four point four" is not to be found in Windsor. Its unpopularity drove its brewers from business.

But the new liquor will be stronger. There is no limit to its alcoholic content.

When the new liquor control bill goes into effect a month hence any person who has been a resident of Canada for 25 days or more will receive a liquor permit for two dollars. This will permit him to one quart of whisky a day and any amount of beer, ale or wine.

Tourists are issued a permit immediately on their arrival in the dominion. In the law a tourist is defined as any person who comes into the dominion to visit for any period of time between an hour and 25 days.

Homes, Hotels and Tents.

The liquor law specifically provides that all drinking must be done in homes, adding that hotels must be considered homes for tourists.

The clause also says tents may be tourists' homes.

Accordingly, an ambitious Windsor business man has purchased two acres of land on a main highway five miles from the city and announced he will build a tent city. Tourists may purchase their liquor at the government dispensary in Windsor, drive to the plot and drink the liquor unmolested.

The hotelmen, defeated in their attempts to include provision for hotel bars in the bill, are protesting they have been "made the goats" of the legislation.

However, the American has only to purchase his liquor from the government store and take it to the hotel where it will be served at his table. Sale is not to be allowed in hotels.

"Here, we will rent our rooms to Americans who buy their liquor from the government," the proprietor of one of Windsor's large hotels told the United Press. "Then they will get drunk in the rooms and bust up the furniture. We will loose on the deal."

The hostelry men had asked parliament for the right to serve light wines and beer with meals.

Can't Drink In Autos.

Motorists will be allowed to transport liquor but drinking in automobiles will be forbidden.

The government has warned drunken drivers will be dealt with severely. Prosecution of drunken persons probably will be a fine for first offense and a light jail sentence for second offense, it is said.

Windsor officials declare they will not increase their police force.

"The government is handling the sale and it will handle law enforcement," is the explanation given.

Extensive bootlegging across the river is forseen by Canadian authorities.

With the thousands leaving and returning to the American side daily it will be near impossible to search every man who passes through customs, officials admit.

"LITTLE DONE BY ASSEMBLY" —SENATOR FORD

Committee to Revise Statutes Best Action of Legislature, Thinks Nodaway Senator.

Asked what he thought was the outstanding feature of the General Assembly, which practically completed its work Saturday, Senator M. E. Ford replied: "How little it did."

Senator and Mrs. Ford and Representative and Mrs. William Job returned home at noon today from Jefferson City, where they had been since January, representing Nodaway County at the legislature.

The only really important accomplishment of the Assembly, in Senator Ford's opinion, was the bill providing for a committee of six to work during the next two years on revising statutes and to submit their revision in bills at the next session of the legislature.

The committee will be comprised of three men appointed by the Speaker of the House and the President Pro tem of the Senate. The bill was in the hands of Governor Baker today, as it did not pass until Saturday.

Senator Ford was sparing in introducing bills of his own, but introduced several for the Missouri Association of Criminal Justice, only one of which went the entire route to the Governor. Senator Ford said that was the bill providing for death sentences to be made by electrocision, and that all capital punishments be made at Jefferson City. This bill is still in the governor's hands but he has given it his verbal approval.

His one bill which passed both houses and which the governor signed was of interest to merchants, providing that merchants' and manufacturers' bills receivable should be exempted from tax.

Senator Ford's resolution to amend the constitution to increase the salary of the legislators also found approval in both houses.

The resolution would fix the salary of representatives and senators at a flat rate of $500 a year, and also removes the limitation of time on the legislature, permitting it to run on indifinitely.

Senator Ford said he was glad to get back home and would be on hand at the opening of the Nodaway County Circuit Court next Monday.

Mr. Job said that only one of his bills passed both houses, while his other bills died on the Senate calendar. His one bill which goes to Governor Baker for signature regards the quarantining of cattle for breeding purposes that are afflicted with contagious abortion.

His three bills which would regulate the salary of county officers by the decenial census, affecting the fees and commissions of township collectors, and the salary of the prosecuting attorney all died on the senate calender, he said.

A Big Task

To fuel and lubricate the millions of motor vehicles of the Middle West is the big task undertaken by this company.

An increase in two years of more than a million motor vehicles indicates that this is a task of rapidly growing proportions, a solution of which requires foresight and adjustability.

The total number of cars and trucks registered in the ten states of the Middle West, served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), was 5,508,570 in 1924 and 6,729,749 in 1926.

This means that within two years the number of motor vehicles in the Middle West increased by 1,221,179.

Finding crude petroleum and converting it into fuel and lubricants for more than six and one-half million motor vehicles is only a part of the work of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) not only produces petroleum products of superior quality, but it distributes them to every corner of the territory it serves.

On all the highways that weave an intricate pattern over the ten great Middle Western States, the service stations of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are found supplying fuel and oil to the cars and trucks that pass.

Nor does the service of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) stop with its own service stations.

Thousands of garages, privately owned filling stations and curb pumps selling Standard Oil Company (Indiana) products dot the landscape of the Middle West. The company's own trucks and tank wagons carry its gasoline, lubricating oil and kerosene to the motorist and to the farmer —even to the tractor in the field when required.

Employees of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are anxious to be helpful. They are enthusiastic about their work. They do every job as if it were the only one they had to do. They take a personal pride in maintaining the reputation of the company of which they are a part.

29,573 men and women working with this spirit perform a task which is of fundamental importance in the lives of thirty million people in the Middle West.

CHAPTER 43

Stone amused them all with his description of the dolls that had belonged to Garrett Folsom.

"It's not so surprising," said Sears, with a twinkle in his eye. "A born collector will choose the strangest lines! I collect antique weapons, another collects dolls. I'm not sure the dolls aren't more admirable. At least, they're less dangerous."

"I'd like to see those dolls," Robin said. "Angel adores them."

"Well, the Folsom lot are among the finest. They must be imported. I never saw any more beautiful ones—if one is fond of dolls."

Breakfast over, and it being too early to expect to see Carmelita Valdon, Stone went to the auction rooms.

A confab with the principals there brought about a more exhaustive inquiry into the sales made the night before the murder of Garrett Folsom.

And it was pretty well established that as the auction drew to a close that night, that the attendants somewhat hastily gathered odds and ends of their wares into bundles and sold them rapidly, taking, in most instances, the first bid made.

This, though done without the sanction of the proprietors, was not unprecedented, for thus the counters were cleared and the way made ready for the next day's enterprises.

Few of the salespeople could remember definitely the customers who had bought these bundles, but at last one clerk came forward with a story of a man who had purchased the very last one.

"I remember," he said, "because the chap only bid five dollars, but I let him take it, partly to get rid of the last lot and partly because the buyers had thinned out so I didn't think there'd be another bid."

"What did he look like?" Stone asked.

"He had a white mustache. That's all I remember especially. He was just an ordinary-looking fellow, not rich but not poor either. Don't remember his clothes at all, but I couldn't help seeing that white mustache and I thought he was old. But his voice didn't sound very old—more middle-aged like. I didn't see his hair; he kept his hat on. He paid cash for his bundle and took it along with him. Didn't seem embarrassed or flustered, just sort of quiet-like and indifferent."

"A collector?"

"No, I don't think so. But you can't tell always. A real collector is foxy and pretends he isn't a collector at all. So you can't tell."

"No, I suppose not. And this bundle, this last sale, had a piehaq in it?"

"Yes, sir. An old one, with a worn-out velvet scabbard, just like the one the police have."

"What else was in it?"

"Trash mostly. Nothing of the same era. A Chinese ink-holder and a Japanese incense-burner. But not valuable or in good condition. He paid all the lot was worth."

"And you can't think of any other distinguishing trait he had?"

"Not one. He was just like one of a hundred guys who come in here every day. It was only that white mustache that made him stick in my memory at all.

"He's the man," Fleming Stone told himself, as he left the shop and turned his steps back toward the Majusaca.

Yet he had not entirely put the idea of Carmelita out of his considerations. And, as he puzzled over it, it came to him that somebody had said the night before that she had human tools to work for her.

Was the man with the white mustache one of these? Had he bought the old weapon for Carmelita's use, either ignorant of her purpose of cognizant thereof?

Who could he have been? And where was any man with a white mustache? Such a facial adornment was enough of a rarity nowadays to be conspicuous, even among the hordes of people at Ocean Town.

And then it came to him. A false mustache, of course!

There is no easier, simpler and yet more effective disguise than a false mustache, particularly a noticeable one.

Granting this, then, the disguise was intentional, and the purchase was made with the expectation of using the weapon for a murderous purpose!

So the man was not necessarily old; probably not at all so, and the next step was to learn his identity.

Not an easy matter, as there seemed to be nothing to go upon but that assumption of a false mustache.

But aside from the dolls and the dagger, it was the only material clue in sight, and Fleming Stone set to work to make it yield up its secret.

As he neared the hotel he met Robin Sears.

"Hello," said the youth, "we've found the man in the green bathing suit."

"Who is he?" asked Stone.

"His name is Preston; he's a stuffy old coot, and he doesn't remember dad at all! Cheerful outlook!"

"Never mind," Stone told him, "we've got a nice white mustache to work on."

Fleming Stone walked along the boardwalk toward the Hotel Majusaca, thinking deeply. Yet his absorption in thought did not prevent his enjoyment of his surroundings. Though he cared little for surf-bathing, the sights and sounds of the crowds of merry-makers pleased his senses as a whole rather than in any detail. The rolling chairs with their human freight and their varied types of pushers interested and amused him, and, though he looked at nothing closely, he saw it all as a huge moving picture.

Yet all the time his reason was working on the case in hand.

He had not the slightest doubt that the man with the white mustache was an agent for someone else, and that the mustache was a disguise.

But why was the man not a principal? he asked himself. Why not the murderer himself.

If so, it must have been one of the men already mixed up with the affair.

Of course, it might have been an entire stranger, but Stone's experience led him to think that this was unlikely. For usually a murderer is sooner or later shown to be acquainted with his victim, if only by the casual testimony or evidence of bystanders or onlookers.

If—and there was always the possibility—if Garrett Folsom had been murdered by someone that his surviving friends and relatives knew nothing of, that fact must also be proved. But the immediate business in hand for Stone was to prove that Croydon Sears had nothing to do with the crime, and this necessitated the investigation of all toward whom the finger of suspicion pointed.

Robin's report that the man in the green bathing suit had been found must be looked into later. At present Stone's thoughts centered on one figure, that of Carmelita Valdon.

"Just the one for the part," the detective pondered. "The right type of a murderess, and proved already to have had motive and opportunity, and—if the white mustache chap was her emissary—she had a way to get the weapon."

How she could carry the knife into the ocean unobserved, Stone did not stop to think. For he knew whoever killed Folsom HAD carried the knife into the water, and, clearly, it would be easier for a woman to conceal such a thing in her bathing costume than for a man.

In fact, Stone thought, that point scored heavily in favor of a woman criminal. For, with the more or less elaborate suits they wore nowadays, ample opportunity was offered for the concealment of a knife, while a man, with his simple one or two-piece suit, had small chance to hide anything of the sort.

Reaching the Majusaca, he found Mrs. Valdron on the deck, exquisitely arrayed in a morning costume appropriate for the beach.

There is something, Stone knows, that Carmelita Valdon has not told, and he is determined to get it from her.

Burlington Junction

By J. Howard Thompson.

There is much truth in the old saying that "if March comes in like a lamb it will go out like a lion, for certainly March passed into history this year like a roaring beast. The storm began with a gentle rain, the night before, and by nine o'clock the next day the storm had increased in intensity until the wind was blowing a gale and the rain falling in torrents. This kept up until far into the night. No damage, however, has been reported, except the drenching of the ground with water, thus delaying farm work for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Graves left last Thursday morning for Kansas City, where they will enter the Johnson Hospital for treatment for a time. They will be gone a number of weeks.

Robert Yaple, in company with T. A. Corken, went to Red Oak, Ia., last Wednesday to look after a farm in that vicinity owned by Mr. Yaple. They returned in the evening of the same day.

The old army horse, which has been here ever since the Service Battery has been in Burlington Junction, is soon to be sent elsewhere, and his place taken here by the army motor trucks. Captain Lee Yaple received orders a few days ago, not to order any more feed for them, so the change will soon be made.

Leonard Houston has disposed of another eighty acres of land recently, to Edward Hackett at $150 per acre. This makes 200 acres of land Mr. Houston has sold within the recent weeks as Mr. John Callaway bought 120 acres two weeks ago. This land all lies bordering on Federal Highway No. 71, and three miles northeast of town. Mr Houston still has a fine farm of 320 acres on which he lives and will retain for a home for himself and family.

Mr. and Mrs. James Greenelsh recently received word from their daughter in California that their grandchild, Billy Knief, a lad of ten summers, was stricken with diphtheria, and in two days was dead. The lad's mother is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Greenelsh, and formerly lived here, where she has many friends who will greatly sympathize with the stricken family.

The third quarter communion will be held in the Methodist Church, Sunday morning, April 17, or two weeks from yesterday. At this time an opportunity will be given for the baptism of children or any others who may desire this rite. The public is most cordially invited to this service.

There will be two elections held in the city of Burlington Junction tomorrow. One will be the city election, at which time a mayor and two aldermen will be elected, and the other will be the annual school election, at which time two members of the board of education will be chosen. In the city election there will be two precincts, one at the city hall and the other in Hann Brother's furniture store. In the school election there will be but one precinct, and that in the director's room of the Northwestern bank. At the school election a proposition will be submitted to the voters, asking a levy of $1.20 be authorized on each 100 dollars of assessed value, for the purpose of maintaining the school, and to take care of any added building or needed repair. This levy will no doubt meet the approval of the voters.

Walter Taylor of Maryville has been in town the most of the week at the bedside of his mother, Mrs. Emma Taylor, who is very near death's door, suffering with cancer. Mrs. Taylor has been very low for the past week or ten days with no hope of her getting better.

Wm. Spargur is on the mail route again after an absence of several weeks sickness at his home here. His son, Leland, carried the mail for him during his illness.

Mrs. Calvin Reavis, who was stricken more than a week ago with something like a nervous breakdown, is now convalescing and on the road to recovery, but still very weak, and confined to her room. She is receiving the best of care and attention and hopes for her complete recovery are being entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kauffman are contemplating moving to Creston, Ia., in the near future to make their home and where Mr. Kaufman has employment. Until recently Mr. Kaufman has been the manager of a grocery store and meat market. The store was sold to a party in Red Oak, Ia., and moved out of town.

From now on and henceforth forever, the beautiful blue bird is to be the legal songster for the State of Missouri, Governor Baker having recently signed a legislative bill to that effect. A more beautiful bird could not thus be honored. In the future, the bird will command far more respect for this distinction.

The local press of the county is announcing the marriage recently of Mrs. Maysie Hankins of Burlington Junction, to Leslie C. Ross of Quitman. The couple quietly stole away to Bedford, Ia., last week and was married in the Iowa town. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Silas Manley of Clearmont. They will continue to make their home in Burlington Junction for the present, at least. Mrs. Ross is an employee of the local telephone system as a "hello girl."

J. George Frederick, former manager of the magazine "Printer's Ink" in an illuminating article in the current number of the Central Christian Advocate, a church publication printed in Kansas City, contrasts the simplicity of our domestic civilization of one hundred years ago with our complicated civilization of today. He says that in the former time the average person had but 72 wants, of which only 16 were necessitous, while today the average person has 484 wants, of which 94 are regarded as necessitous. Furthermore he says that one hundred years ago there were not more than 200 different items urged upon the average person by the seller, while today, there are 32,000 so urged. He further states that there are 365,000 different articles of merchandise on the market today to tempt the buyer in getting rid of his money. A well stocked hardware store alone has 88,000 separate items for sale. It would seem we have gone a long way from the simple life of yesterday.

Sherman Taylor of Boyington, Okla., surprised his mother and other relatives by coming unannounced for a visit of a few days last Friday morning. He will stay until Monday morning when his business at home will demand his attention. He came on account of the very serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Emma Taylor.

The Eastern Star Club met last Monday evening at the home of Mrs. L. Miller, with eleven members present. At roll call each answered by describing some foreign country they would like to visit. Mrs. Leongra Johnson was program leader and a fine program was presented. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, and the roll call will be answered by Willie Willis sayings. Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

Just Like T. R.

Emulating her illustrious father-in-law, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., wife of the former assistant secretary of the navy, has distinguished herself in politics. Unopposed, she won her first elective office, that of treasurer of her home town, Cove Neck, Long Island. "I haven't thought much about a policy," shesai d as the twelve votes were counted. "You see, it's a very small affair."

(NEA Service, New York Bureau)

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church will meet in its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Jones next Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Wayne Nicholas and Mrs. W. R. Miller as assistant hostesses. Mrs. R. H. Rees will have charge of the lesson for the day. All interested will plan to attend.

D. H. Arnold and his two sons, Harley and Samuel, were in St. Joseph last Sunday visiting Mr. Arnold's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Arnold. The elder Arnolds recently moved from Burlington to St. Joseph to make their home.

Miss Mary Wolfers, who recently underwent an operation for goiter at the Missouri Methodist Hospital in St. Joseph, has gotten along so well after the operation that she will be able to return to her sister's home, Mrs. T. A. Corken, within a few days. This will be good news to her many friends.

Mrs. Bud Trueblood, formerly a resident of Burlington Junction, but later living in Elmo, is in the Missouri Methodist Hospital in St. Joseph for a surgical operation, she having been accompanied to the hospital by her sister, Mrs. Bonar of Hopkins. Her daughter, Mrs. Carl Gardner of Omaha, Nebr., is staying with her father, Bud Trueblood, while her mother is away from home.

Rev. Isidore Diebold, the pastor of the local Catholic church, has been called to St. Joseph, to deliver a series of sermons at the Immaculate Conception church in the city. He will be gone for a week or more. During his absence, the Rev. Damian Cummins will have charge of the work here.

PAID ADVERTISEMENT—Authorized by John H. Sewell Committee, for which $10.50 has been paid.

To the Voters of the Maryville Public Schools:

There are two tickets for school directors in the field today—one headed by Mr. John Sewell, and the other by Dr. Jesse Miller. Both tickets carry the names of Mrs. Fryer and Mrs. Strong.

The Parent-Teachers Association of Maryville have been engaged in a splendid work for the upbuilding of the public schools, and they are entitled, as everybody believes, to some membership on the board.

Mr. John Sewell has lived in Maryville for a great many years. He has always manifested a deep interest in all phases of public school life. He is a friend of the student. His every interest would be in the public school. He is capable and efficient. Those who sponsor his election have every faith in the honor and the integrity of the man.

Doctor Jesse Miller is, also, a candidate, and leading one of the tickets. It is true, Dr. Jesse Miller was for a great many years a member of the Board of Education, and he rendered to the public schools of Maryville a valuable service. What time he could spare from his business, as did the other members of the board, was given whole-heartedly to the public schools by Dr. Jesse Miller, but he is now president of the Board of Regents of the College. The time he takes from his business must necessarily be given to the College, and with that burden, a great many citizens and lovers of our public schools believe he could not render his best services to the public schools. When Dr. Miller became a member of the Board of Regents, he had that thought in mind when he resigned from the Board of Education of the city schools. He followed the example of Mr. Blagg and Mr. Brink. Like them he, too, severed his connection with the city schools when he became connected with the College. For that reason a large number of citizens of Maryville and business men and women have placed before the voters another ticket headed by Mr. Sewell. A vote for Mr. Sewell, keeps separate the College and the public schools, each rendering service to the citizens of Maryville in their own particular way. Mr. Sewell should be elected.

JOHN SEWELL COMMITTEE.

Legislators Approve Plan to Raise Their Salaries to $1,000

Jefferson City, April 4.—One of the last acts of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly was the passage of a measure to provide a method for raising the pay of legislators.

The proposal was the only one designed to submit a constitutional amendment to the voters of Missouri to pass both branches of the legislature. The Senate late Saturday passed the resolution which had previously been adopted by the House. An increase to $1,000 per member for each legislative session is provided. It would supplant the $5 per day for the first seventy days and $1 thereafter, stipend now paid members of the Assembly.

Should the resolution be signed by the governor the proposal will be submitted to voters at the next general election.

More Boll Weevils Survive the Winter

Fewer Went Into Hibernation, However, Says Agriculture Department in Cotton Survey.

Washington, April 4. — Survival among boll weevils in hibernation will be higher than usual this year, due to unusually mild temperatures the past winter throughout the cotton belt, the Agriculture Department announced today.

This is offset, however, by the fact that in many sections last summer and fall, conditions were such that the number of Weevils entering hibernation was much lower than usual.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, April 4.—The wheat market on the Chicago board of trade again suffered early from lack of aggressive buying, and prices eased off slightly from the previous close, Liverpool not being as high as expected. The cash market was unchanged.

Corn displayed independent strength, but the market held within a narrow range, the disposition of local traders being to sell on every slight bulge. The cash market was unchanged.

Oats was steady on moderate buying orders and light offerings. The cash market was ¼ cent higher.

Provisions were steady.

LEGISLATURE ENDS SESSION

SENATE STAYS UNTIL TOMORROW BUT WORK IS FINISHED.

MAJOR BILLS SAVED

Death penalty for bandits.

Electric chair bill.

The ½-million-dollar appropriation and act authorizing an intermediate reformatory for "baby bandits."

A bill providing a "hard boiled" prison.

Construction of a highway department building in Jefferson City at a cost of $350,000.

Three banking bills, tightening restrictions.

The boxing bill.

Jefferson City, April 4.—The Missouri State Senate will adjourn sine die tomorrow morning. A necessary postponement extended the session for an extra half day.

There will not be another meeting of the lower house, for most of the members have gone home.

Governor Baker announced today he will dispose of all bills passed by the General Assembly within a week and persons desiring a hearing on any bill in his hands must announce their wants immediately.

The governor will not sign any of the bills until he has made a thorough study of their provisions, he said. He announced he had asked Judge Robert W. Otto, formerly justice of the supreme court, now practicing law here, to make a detailed digest of each of the new bills.

The bills can be held thirty days by the governor before signature is necessary. After that time they would automatically become law.

Jefferson City, April 4.—The fifty-fourth Missouri general assembly finished its business at midnight Saturday night. Not much time was lost by members of the legislature in saying farewells after adjournment.

Although formal and final adjournment is not until tomorrow morning, members started leaving immediately. The session is over, no more bills will be passed and none considered.

Some of the Major Bills.

Major bills, dragged by tired legislators from the jammed calendars Saturday included death penalty for highway robbery when committed with a deadly weapon; provision for the establishment of a "hard boiled" penitentiary within the walls of the main prison here; taking a soft berth at the Boonville reformatory away from young criminals by reducing the age limit at the institution from 30 to 21 years; making uniform the discretionary powers of trial judges in criminal cases to transfer the case from the juvenile to the circuit court. Heretofore judges have had that right in counties of more than fifty thousand population. This bill makes it state-wide.

Although the legislature rejected most of the program for crime code revision legislation offered by the Missouri Association of Criminal Justice, valuable legislation striking at the criminals has been enacted.

Classed as a "do nothing" assembly early in the session, both houses have, in the final days, shown a surprising aptitude for work.

Session Cost $362,750.

During the session 1203 bills were introduced, 765 in the House and 438 in the Senate. One hundred and seventy-eight bills were passed, of which 35 have been signed by Governor Baker. Of the remainder there were only 120, of varying importance, which were considered to have any chance of passage had they been called to a vote. Of the number of bills passed 16 are appropriation measures. The Senate passed 140 of the bills it introduced, while the House passed 280 of its measures.

The cost of the 90-day session is estimated at $362,750, somewhat more than the average cost. The expense includes the salaries of members and their vast corps of clerks, printing and other incidental expenses.

Departmental Scheme Fails.

The general assembly rejected the departmental consolidation scheme proposed by the Missouri Associations for Economy in Public Expenditures, principally, it was said, on the ground that the program was so wide in its scope that the session did not afford sufficient time for its consideration. The intent of this session was seen today, however, when the house bill consolidating the bureau of labor statistics and the office of the state industrial inspector finally was passed by the senate. The bill will be signed by Governor Baker. It was advocated by him in his message.

The judicial convention bill, permitting the nomination of supreme judges, appellate judges and judges of the circuit courts, by convention instead of by the present system, died in the house committee on elections. Home rule of the police departments for Kansas City, St. Louis and St. Joseph, was defeated in the house yesterday.

No tax increase legislation has been enacted in the present session. The senate defeated Governor Baker's separate maintenance plan for the schools and the house killed an omnibus bill purposing to increase the corporation franchise income and general property taxes.

A School Bill Dies.

The community school district measure, proposed by the governor and Superintendent Charles A. Lee, under which a school would be provided for every boy and girl in rural Missouri, died on the senate calendar Saturday. A proposal for submission of a 120-million-dollar bond issue for additional highways, was lost.

Steps were taken by the Legislature for statute revision. Saturday the Senate passed the House bill sponsored by Representatives Bales of Shannon, Wilson, Henry and Freeland creating a commission to prepare measures for the codification of the statutes. The session of 1929 will be a revising session. The plan is to have the necessary bills prepared so that the statutes may be given a thorough revision.

The bill passed provides for a commission of six members, three to be appointed by Senator Nick T. Cave, president pro tem., and three by Speaker Winter of the House. The names of members who will serve on the commission have not been announced. The bill does not become effective until ninety days elapse.

Battery C to Move to Hosmer Building

All Equipment To Be Stored Under One Roof.—Change Also Permits Target Practice.

Battery C of the 128th Field Artillery National guard, will occupy the two-story brick building on the southwest corner of Third and Buchanan streets beginning May 1, Captain E. V. Condon, commander of the Maryville battery, said today.

The building is owned by R. P. Hosmer, 529 West Third street, who said today that he had already ordered minor repairs to be made on the building before the motorized battery moves in. It has been occupied by the Studebaker Automobile Agency and Sillers garage.

The battery has occupied the David S. Angell building on North Buchanan street for several years.

The new location for the battery will permit the storing of all the equipment under one roof, Captain Condon said. This, he explained, was impossible in the present Armory Building. The new quarters also have sufficient length to permit indoor target practice. Most of the equipment will be housed on the second floor of the Hosmer building.

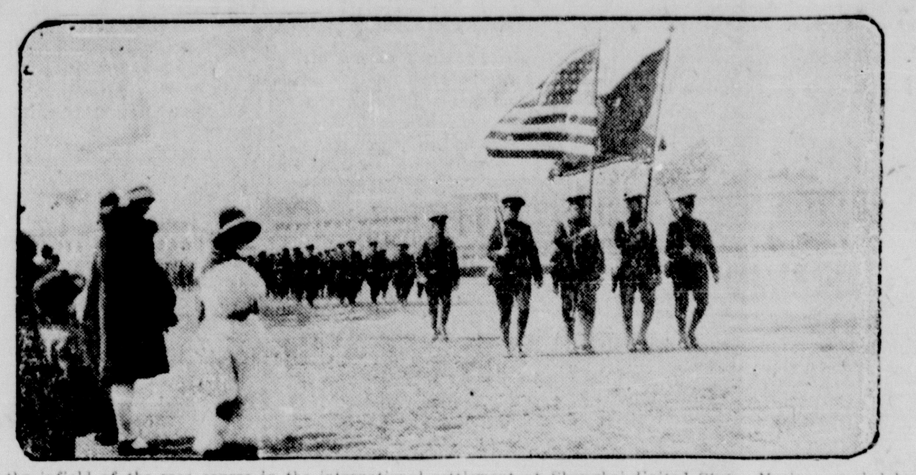
The Battery C stables, which have been located in the Glover-Alexander building on North Vine street, will be vacated in a few days, as Captain Condon said today he was expecting an order directing where the horses should be sent.

The local battery will be motorized by June 1.

Albert Kuchs Returns.

Albert Kuchs returned Sunday morning from Rochester, Minn., where he has been for the last eight weeks undergoing an operation and treatment. Mr. Kuchs is still weak but is expected to be up and around soon.

The Marines Parade In Shanghai



Across the infield of the race course in the international settlement at Shanghai United States Marines are led by their inspiring color guard, while Chinese and foreign youngsters take the review. It was "only for exercise," said our government officials, that the men landed from American men-o'-war lying in the Whangpoo, proceeded through the streets of the concession and paraded at the race course. But because of their brief sojourn ashore came as victorious Cantonese soldiers here down on "the Paris of the East" it was suspected that the Devil Dogs' display perhaps had some more significant purpose.

John M. Murrin, a Maryville Business Man 43 Years Today

John M. Murrin today has been a Maryville business man for 43 years. On April 4, 1884 Mr. Murrin came in from his farm, seven miles east of Maryville, and entered the Hugh Snapp Clothing Company. He remained with the firm when it became Montgomery and Corwin and became a firm member in 1907 when the company was known as Montgomery, Corwin and Murrin. Now, of course, the company is the Corwin-Murrin Clothing Co.

The Maryville business man has done business in the same store room forty-three years. He has watched men's styles change from ankle length trousers to the present mode, from tight ones to Oxford bags.

When he first came to Maryville, the men were having the creases pressed out of their trousers. The "new fangled" idea of creased trousers was not popular and since the trousers came with the creases pressed into them, it was necessary to press them out.

There have been many changes in Maryville during Mr. Murrin's career. Prices have made the greatest strides, perhaps.

A good Stetson hat could be purchased for $3.50 or $4. Most men wore $10 suits and $25 was the top price. For $18.50 one could purchase an excellent suit. Work shirts were 50 cents and overalls were priced at 50 cents and 75 cents.

Formerly articles of clothing on display were hung out in front of the store. One New Year's morning Mr. Murrin hung a very good overcoat in front of the store. A little later he went to get it—it was gone. That was one of the few times that articles were stolen from in front of the building.

Mr. Murrin was born in Belvidere, Ill., and came to Missouri in 1871, when the family moved to the farm on Long Branch, east of Maryville.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Foreman and daughter, Hilda, left last week for Enid, Okla., for the benefit of the latter's health. Mr. Foreman, who is district manager of the Continental Insurance Company, will return to Maryville to continue his work.
